HydroComp, Inc. is recipient of 2017 New Hampshire Small Business Exporter of the Year

Celebrating 30 years of international business

DURHAM, New Hampshire (USA) – HydroComp, Inc. was recently awarded the 2017 New Hampshire Small Business Exporter of the Year by the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) in partnership with the New Hampshire Bankers Association.

Founded in 1984 by Jill Aaron (Managing Director) and Donald MacPherson (Technical Director), HydroComp is a pioneer in the very specific area of applied hydrodynamics. Their award winning maritime software and consultancy services for hull and propeller analysis and design is valued by marine companies around the world. This focus shaped a line of unique naval architectural software packages beginning with their flagship product NavCad®, and now includes PropExpert, PropCad, SwiftCraft, and most recently, PropElements. HydroComp is regarded as the premier source for performance prediction software, consulting, and knowledge.

HydroComp has been actively exporting for most of their 33 years. According to Managing Director, Ms. Jill Aaron, “In recent years we have been working even more closely with the State of New Hampshire International Trade Resource Center and the U.S. Commercial Service. Because of this relationship, we have been able to delve into more emerging and challenging global markets. Their assistance and resources, such as the State Trade and Export Promotion Grant Program, have created valuable opportunities for us.”

HydroComp products and services are used by naval architects, marine engineers, yacht designers & ship builders, owners & operators, academics, propulsion equipment suppliers, governments, and militaries worldwide. HydroComp is proud to have served over 700 industry, research, academic, and governmental clients from more than 60 countries.

Ms. Jill Aaron will be recognized at the annual New Hampshire SBA Small Business Awards event on May 2, 2017.
